Administrative Withdrawal Requests
If you have experienced an extenuating circumstance after the official withdrawal deadline and need to withdraw, you may request an administrative withdrawal using the link below. You should consult with your advisor before submitting. Please make sure that your request form includes an explanation of your extenuating circumstance along with any supporting documentation. Failing to include adequate information could result in you having to resubmit the form.

Tool for Managing Day-to-Day Stress and Anxiety
For those of us experiencing social anxiety, everyday social interactions can cause fear, self-consciousness, and embarrassment. TAO was designed to provide you with a tool kit of effective evidence-based resources to help you cope with the fear of social interactions. You have free, completely anonymous access 24/7/365 through your institution. You may simply log into myEOL and select the TAO app to begin exploring resources. I've included a picture below of the application you'll see in myEOL. Other counseling resources are on page two of this document.
